What is Culinary ID

Culinary ID is a unique identification program launched by ACOHI (Asian Countries Chamber of Hospitality Industry) for individuals, organizations and corporate working or aspiring to work in the Hospitality Industry at city, state, national, and international levels. It verifies the detailed background of organizations, including their address, services provided, directors verification and previous history in the hospitality field. After successfully passing the criteria, they are allotted with a unique identification number valid for one year. Renewal is based on their services and overall track record.

In the past, individuals and organizations often entered the industry without proper background checks, resulting in poor standards of services. The industry now operates in a dynamic, systematic, and verified manner, ensuring better standards and services. Culinary ID serves as a important verified tag of recognition for the Hospitality Industry of India and Asia for any individual, service, corporate, brand or organization.
