Apex India Foundation is a Non-Profit Foundation that aims to recognize and celebrate exemplary individuals and organizations for outstanding contributions in the field of environmental protection, safety in the workplace, implementation of Corporate Social Responsibility, and adopting human resources best practices. The purpose of the "Occupational Health & Safety Awards" is to reward organizations that have made unique contributions in the field of health and safety of workers.

"We are proud of the dual recognition by the esteemed Apex India Foundation for our health and safety standards and our unwavering commitment to the well-being of our associates," said Yee Seng, Vice President, Operations, AMEA, Avantor. "These awards are a testament to the hard work of our Environmental Health, Safety, Sustainability and Security (EHSS&S) team and Avantor's leadership position in the life sciences industry."

Commenting on the awards, Puneet Pant, Managing Director,

India, Avantor said, “We are extremely honored to receive this recognition. Our safety strategy emphasizes proactive monitoring of regulatory changes, partnering with operational leaders to meet internal health and safety requirements, eliminating hazards, and reducing risks. Ensuring the safety and well-being of our associates is our top priority, and this recognition underscores our commitment to creating a safe and healthy work environment.”
