The Ayodhya Ram Mandir, also known as the Ram Janmabhoomi, holds immense significance in the hearts of millions of Hindus across the world. It is believed to be the birthplace of Lord Ram, one of the most revered and worshipped deities in Hinduism. The construction of the temple has been a long-standing dream for many devotees, and now, it is finally becoming a reality.

The Ayodhya Ram Mandir project has been undertaken by the Shri Ram Janmabhoomi Teerth Kshetra Trust, which was formed by the Government of India to oversee the construction of the temple. The trust has been working tirelessly to ensure that the temple is built in accordance with the principles of Vastu Shastra and adheres to the architectural style of the ancient Ayodhya city.

The estimated budget for the construction of the Ayodhya Ram

Mandir is around 18,000 crores. The funds for the project have been contributed by millions of devotees from all over the world, who have eagerly donated towards the noble cause. The construction of the temple is being carried out by skilled craftsmen and artisans, who are meticulously carving intricate designs and sculptures to adorn the temple.

Ayodhya Ram Mandir

Currently, the construction of the Ayodhya Ram Mandir is in full swing. The foundation stone for the temple was laid on 5th August 2020, in a grand ceremony attended by Prime Minister Narendra Modi and other dignitaries. The temple is being built on a 70-acre plot, and it is expected to be one of the largest Hindu temples in the world.

The completion date for the Ayodhya Ram Mandir is set to be in 2023. The construction is progressing at a steady pace, and every effort is being made to ensure that the temple is built with the utmost care and devotion. Once completed, the temple will stand as a testament to the faith and unity of the Hindu community.

The Ayodhya Ram Mandir will be a magnificent structure, showcasing the architectural brilliance of ancient India. It will feature intricate carvings, majestic domes, and beautiful sculptures depicting scenes from the life of Lord Ram. The temple complex will also include other facilities such as a museum, a library, and a research center, providing visitors with a holistic experience.
