This recognition comes just a year after Crompton received its first GreenPro Ecolabel certification for its ceiling fans, underscoring the company's commitment to driving environmental responsibility across product categories.

The GreenPro Ecolabel Certification is a prestigious recognition that validates a product's environmental performance across its entire life cycle—from raw material sourcing and manufacturing processes, to energy efficiency during use, and responsible disposal or recycling at the end of life. In India, the certification is promoted by the Confederation of Indian Industry (CII) and is accredited by the Global Ecolabelling Network (GEN), ensuring it meets globally harmonized ecolabelling standards.

By securing this certification for its professional lighting range, Crompton demonstrates its commitment to offering genuinely sustainable solutions for the building materials, manufacturing, and infrastructure sectors.

Crompton's Entire B2B Lighting Range is engineered to combine reliability, performance, and energy efficiency with sustainable practices. With GreenPro certified solutions spanning indoor, industrial, outdoor, solar, and high-mast lighting categories, Crompton is now uniquely positioned to support businesses and institutions in meeting their green building and sustainability goals.

Commenting on the achievement, Mr Promeet Ghosh, MD & CEO, said: "At Crompton, sustainability is at the core of our innovation. We are proud to be the first lighting company in India to achieve a complete GreenPro Certified Solution Range. It reinforces our dedication to delivering high-performance, reliable products while making a meaningful impact on people as well as the planet. Together, these milestones reflect Crompton's journey toward building a greener and more sustainable future for India."

The Confederation of Indian Industry (CII) is committed to cultivating an environment that facilitates India's development by working alongside industry, government, and civil society through advisory and consultative processes.

The Ecolabel Certificate is awarded to products that demonstrate strong environmental performance across their entire life cycle. Each product undergoes a comprehensive assessment covering raw materials, manufacturing processes, performance during use, and end-of-life disposal or recycling. This holistic evaluation ensures the product's true sustainability. The certification was officially presented at the GreenPro Summit India 2025, where Crompton was recognized among the leaders of India's sustainability community.
