Commenting on the campaign, Pritika Shah, Head – Marketing, HDFC Life, said, “Parents play a crucial role in shaping their child’s future, both emotionally and financially. In today’s world, children are over exposed to several forms of content which may, sometimes, also impact their habits and mindsets in a not-so-desirable manner. With our latest campaign, we at HDFC Life are highlighting the key role parents play in influencing their children with the right values and mindset.” She added, “We believe that when families are financially prepared they are empowered to live with dignity, self-respect and pride; and pass on the legacy of values and financial security to the next generation.”

“Our film brings to life a very poignant insight – often children are easily embarrassed by their parents and their choices, only to recognise the true value of their actions later in life. We hope our film resonates with all parents who want to bring up their children with the right set of values”, said, Vikram Pandey, Chief Creative Officer, Leo – South Asia.

The campaign is currently live across multiple high-visibility media platforms – across 70+ TV channels in nine languages – supported by a strong digital presence spanning social media platforms.

Further, it has also been amplified with Print ads across major business publications, along with robust pan India Outdoor campaign spanning 60+ cities.
