Refex Group, a pioneering force in sustainable business solutions, reinforced its leadership and commitment to responsible business practices at the 19th National Convention of the United Nations Global Compact Network India (UN GCNI), held at The Leela Palace, Chennai. The two-day event, which convened global and national leaders in sustainability, finance, and policy, witnessed Refex Group at the forefront, driving impactful conversations on sustainable growth, climate action, and ethical business integrity.

Mr. Anil Jain, Managing Director of Reflex Group

As the official convener for both the Business Integrity Conclave and the Annual Convention, Reflex Group reaffirms its commitment to the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals (UN SDGs). Mr. Anil Jain, Managing Director of Reflex Group and Convenor of the convention, delivered the welcome address, setting the stage for meaningful discussions and corporate commitments toward a sustainable and resilient future.

“Reflex Group has long believed that businesses are not just contributors but catalysts for meaningful change. Our sustainable business model, spanning renewables, green mobility, industrial waste management, wind turbine manufacturing, ash disposal and healthcare, is a testament to our dedication to environmental stewardship, economic value creation, and social inclusivity,” said Mr. Jain in his address.

With Tamil Nadu emerging as a leader in sustainable economic growth, Reflex Group is actively shaping the sustainability landscape by aligning its business model with national and global priorities. The company’s strategic initiatives, such as India’s first affordable MRI machine (Anamaya) and its pioneering EV fleet services, highlight its commitment to innovation-driven sustainability.

Further solidifying its role as a frontrunner in ecosystem restoration, Reflex Group recently established the ‘Centre for Business Leadership on Ecosystem Restoration’ in collaboration with UNGCNI, emphasizing the critical need for corporate participation in biodiversity conservation.

The convention served as a powerful platform for Reflex Group to engage with key stakeholders, reinforcing its reputation as an industry leader and a trusted partner in advancing India’s green goals. With a firm focus on climate action, resource circularity, and ethical governance, Reflex Group continues to redefine the business landscape, setting new benchmarks for sustainable corporate leadership.
