**The Lake Palace**, formerly known as Jag Niwas, is a magnificent summer palace turned hotel located on the picturesque island of Jag Niwas in Lake Pichola, Udaipur, India. Spread across 4 acres of natural beauty, this architectural marvel is often referred to as the Venice of the East.

Constructed between 1743 and 1746 by Maharana Jagat Singh II, the 62nd custodian of the House of Mewar, the Lake Palace was a luxurious retreat for the Mewar Royal family. The Maharana spared no expense in creating this opulent palace, which served as a respite from the scorching summers of Rajasthan.

Managed by IHCL for the past 50 years, the Lake Palace has gained global fame as a backdrop for several super-hit films, including Octopussy and The Fall. Its ethereal beauty and grandeur have captivated audiences worldwide.

The palace, made entirely of white marble, is a sight to behold. With its intricate architecture and stunning location, it exudes a sense of tranquility and elegance. As you step inside, you are transported to a world of luxury and refinement.

Facing east, the Lake Palace was strategically designed to allow its inhabitants to offer their prayers to Surya, the Hindu sun god, at the break of dawn. This spiritual touch adds to the palace's charm and mystique.

One of the main reasons behind the construction of the Lake Palace was to provide a private and secluded space for the royal family to entertain guests. The Maharana believed that the City Palace was too public for moonlit picnics with the beautiful young ladies of Udaipur. Thus, a palace in the center of Lake Pichola was the perfect solution.

Throughout history, the Lake Palace has played host to regal durbars, or royal gatherings, in its courtyards adorned with columns, pillared terraces, fountains, and gardens. The black and white marble walls are embellished with semi-precious stones and ornamental niches, adding to the palace's splendor.

Surrounded by meticulously manicured gardens, the Lake Palace offers a serene and idyllic escape from the bustling city life. As you stroll through the pillared terraces and admire the breathtaking views of Lake Pichola, you can't help but feel a sense of awe and wonder.

Whether you choose to stay at the Lake Palace or simply visit as a guest, the experience is nothing short of magical. The luxurious accommodations, impeccable service, and unparalleled beauty make it a destination unlike any other.

As the sun sets over the lake, casting a golden glow on the palace, you can't help but feel a deep appreciation for the rich history and architectural brilliance that surrounds you. The Lake Palace truly is a testament to the grandeur of the Mewar dynasty and a must-visit destination for anyone seeking a taste of royal luxury.

So, immerse yourself in the enchanting beauty of the Lake Palace and create memories that will last a lifetime. Experience the allure of this former summer palace and let yourself be transported to a world of regal splendor and timeless elegance.
